

Agreeing and Disagreeing

A Quick-Reference Guide

Agree (True)

Disagree (False)

For Any Occasion

I think so (yes).	Not exactly.
That sounds right.	I don't know about that.
(Yes,) Definitely.	That doesn't sound right.
As far as I know...
(Yes) (that's) right.

Formal Occasions

For sure.	That's not quite right...
(Yes,) Certainly.	I'm not (so) sure about that.
I would say so.	Rather...(give the real answer)
I believe so.	Actually...(give the real answer)
(Yes,) Indeed.	(*Cannot be used for negative questions. If you use these for a negative questions, it means: "Yes, I agree.")
(Yes,) Exactly.	*I don't think so. (I think that...)
Precisely, (yes).	*Not as far as I know.
Surely.	*Not as I understand it.

Informal Occasions

Yeah, I think so. (Very informal, casual.)	I'm not positive about that one.
Quite. (Refined informal)	That can't be right. (Informal.)
Close enough. (Not exactly correct, but...)	No way, that's not right.
Positively. (Informal, exuberant.)	What? No, no, no.
Yeah, that's gotta be true. (Very informal)
Oh, yeah. Definitely. (Very informal)

Making a True-or-False Question:

Universal Method:

1. _____ (Any Sentence) + ___, right?

Not-Universal Methods:

2. [Singular] A) ...isn't it/he/she? ...doesn't she? ...don't you?
[Plural] B) ...aren't they? ...don't they? ...don't we?
3. ...is he not? ...are they not? ...Is it not? ...does he not?
4. For a negative (question)=>Make it Positive. doesn't he => does he? isn't it => it is?

Example:

(Positive) He likes fish, doesn't he? => (Negative) He doesn't like fish, does he?

(Note: For a negative question, some responses cannot be used. See * starred items above.)
