

Pronunciation 4: Fast Pronunciation

A Quick-Reference Guide

Fast pronunciation: 早く発音 Contractions Colloquial Most are only pronounced this way, not written out. T&D, T D, T and D pronouncing T, pronouncing D "T" sometimes becomes "D" Often, but not always, the tens are pronounced as: 30, thirty -> thir-D, 4D, fifD, sixD, sevenD, AD, nine-D. It'd = id-id it-id It would be nice. => Id-id be nice. Them => 'um. I like them. => I lik'm. him => 'im. I like him. => I lik'm. The pronunciation is often the same: 発音はよく同じ 'um = 'im And => 'n I will have...the...Fish! I'll have the fish. a'l'v th...Fish. (maybe similar pronunciation as "I love the fish") ing => 'n (Fishing => Fish'n) Sometime the "T" is dropped completely. President/Secretary Clinton => Clin'n would have been -> wudab'n "This will just take a minute" 6 syllables/ 4 beats "This'll just take a minute." 4 syllables/ 3 beats "Did you use one yesterday" 7 syllables "D'jew's one yesterday ..." 4 syllables "What did you use?" 4 syllables "Wa-D'jews?" 2 syllables "I have got to leave." "I have to leave." "I must leave." "I gotta go." "I've gotta go." "Do you want some?" 4 syllables "Jwunt some?" 2-3 syllables "What do you want?" 4 syllables "Wa-Jwunt?" 2-3 syllables	"Believe that they are going to run their countries..." "Believe they're gunna run their countries..." "Because." B'kuz cuz "Because of what?" "cuz'a wa?" (maybe rude) "Are you planning on getting lunch?" "Are you-all fixing to eat?" "Yallfix'nd,a'e?" (Thick Southern Dialect.) 南弁 you => yall 南弁だけ "Do you want to get lunch?" "U-wanna get lunch?" (maybe rude) "Dj'U-wanna get lunch?" "Please give me a burger..." "Gimme a burger..." (maybe rude) "No I didn't drive to work..." 7 "Noa-d'n drive to work..." 5 What do you have? Whatcha got? (This one can be written.) (maybe rude) What do you have? What do you got? (rude) What-ya got? wacha got? What are you doing? (rare) Wha-tcha do'n? (very informal) (Cultural note: "What are you doing?" sounds like the person is doing something wrong. Use: What are you working on? (Formal) What are you up to? (informal) What's happening? What are you watching? Watcha-wach'n? (informal) ...Wants to go to Kyoto. 発音 Wants ta go ta Kyoto. At the end of the... At-th-en-da'tha- "Gimmi the salt, wudja." (can be rude) Give me the salt (please), would you?
---	---